Course Instructor:

MISS RAMSHA KHALID

Executive Summary:

This project involves the design and development of a Netflix Clone website that replicates the core visual appearance and user experience of the original Netflix platform. The goal was to practice modern web development concepts including responsive design, structured navigation, and UI/UX decision-making while maintaining ethical use of publicly available assets.

Project Objectives & Scope:-

Objectives:

- Design a Netflix-style interface for learning purposes
- Practice HTML, CSS
- Apply responsive design principles

Scope:

- Front-end only
- Static content with dummy data
- No back end or authentication

Site Structure & Navigation:

- Home Page: Featured content and categories
- Login Page: User login UI
- Browse Page: Movie categories and thumbnails

Design Choices:

Fonts: Helvetica neue, Helvetica, Arial, Sans-serif.

Colors: Red (#E50914), Black, White

Layout: Grid and horizontal scrolling rows

Assets Used

Images: TMDB (educational use)

Icons: Font Awesome

Data: TMDB

How to Run / Publish

Open index.HTML locally or deploy using GitHub Pages / Netlify.

congrats my team to finally finish our AICT Lab final project. Hope you all enjoyed the work we have done together. We are thank full to Alzaraan Software House for collaboration with our final AICT Lab project and also our respected Miss Ramsha Khalid and our guider Usman Ashfaq (Teacher Assistant) to guide us.

Our final project topic is to replicate a web so we decided to clone the Netflix front page by using html and css. Hope our efforts will be appreciated.
